tensity. Fires were lighted on the shore, and watch was kept for the absent fishermen until daylight. Early on Sunday morning a son of Simmons pulled out among the little shoals or islets which dot the day in search of his father. On reaching Ruffle Bar he discovered Henry Soiting and Peter Oppeaman. They had been rescued from impending death the evening previous by theory Smith, who resides on that island. When discovered by the latter gentleman they were lying almost unconscious in their boat, which had drifted on shore. They could give no account to young Sammons as to the latter gentleman they were lying almost unconscious in their boat, which had drifted on shore. They could give no account to young Sammons as to the latter of the colored men. On Fr day morning, as soon as navigation would permit, W. H. Newberry, N. Schenkand and Simmons, Jr., proceeded upon another tour of exploration. They found the missing boat lying in one of the meadows and both simmons and Holmes satting dead at their oars. The bodies were taken to Canarsie where they were interred. Holmes was forty years old and Simmons seventy. Both mea

The hexall representative called at the place of business of the unfortunite broker and had an interview with the book-keeper. The latter stated that Mr. Whittemore had been "long" of the market, and the recent heavy decline had expansied his margins; they hoped to make a settlement with their creditors snortly, and could give no approximate idea of their lia bilities; they were, however, not large.

Western Union was the speculative card early in the day and declined snarply, but was carried up nearly to yesterday's figures in the late trade, western Union was the western to the late trace, by the covering of the "shorts," it was supposed. A good deal has been said on the street about the rivalry between the Atlantic and Facific Telegraph Company and the Western Union, the expectation being that with the advent of General Eckert to the Presidency of the former company there would be a general reduction in rates and sharp competition.

Erie has taken a business step at length of vast importance in moving from her gandy Opera House offices down town to their old quarters, at the loot of Duane street. Comment on this movement in Wall street was very flattering to the business sagacity which prompted the change.

Bonds and stocks not on the official list of the New York stock Exchange can only be sold at auction, and, as will be seen by a record below, quite a large amount of these were disposed of yesterday at public sale as well as some securities which are duil of sale at the Board. In Pacific Mail there was 200 even a startling rumor to disturb the serently of the street. When our reporter visited the offices of the company the Board were in executive session, with closed doors, and there was a genuine air of business bustle among the cierks.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

WHAT THE RIFLEMEN ARE DOING-THE COMING INTERNATIONAL MATCH. The coming season promises to be one of unusual interest among the rifle shooting fraternity, which, under the lostering care of the National Rifle Association, is rapidly increasing in numters. Though this association has now been established some three years, and its reputation character and purpose. It was incorporated under the laws of the State of New York for the purpose of establishing a range and for the en-couragement of rifle practice, and is not, in lact, a rifle club, though hearly all of such clubs existing in the city, such as the Amateur Rifle Club, the Scottishas the Amateur Rifle Club, the Scottish-American, the Seventh regiment, the Irish-Ameri-can, the Twelfth regiment and the Twenty-second regiment clubs belong to it—as, indeed, it is neces-sary that they should, in order to be allowed to practice at the range. It numbers nearly 1,500 members, many of whom make no pretensions to being practical riflemen, and membership is open to all.

practice at the range. It numbers nearly 1,500 members, many of whom make no pretensions to being practical riflemen, and membership is open to all.

THE RIPLE FEVER.

The organization of the association, which is modelled upon the one at Wimbledon, and its success, has had the effect of increasing the interest in rifle practice, not only throughout the Union, but in South America and other parts, and the officers are in constant receipt of communications asking information regarding the range, the description of targets and for copies of the rules and requisitions, with a view to the establishment of similar associations. The result has amply justified the opinions of its projectors, that in a new country such as ours, where the practical use of the ride has been so much a necessity, and among a people with whose traditions skilled marksmenship has ever been intimately blended, it needed only the encouragement of or ganized effort to develop a skill which nothing could surpass. At the recent annual meeting the finances of the association were shown to be in an admirable condition. The property at Creedmoor, which is valued at $50,000, is entirely free from encumorance, and a comparison between the assets and itabilities shows a balance in its favor of about $4,000. It is now proposed to add to the attractions and advantages of the range by putting up a club house for the accommodation of the members, to include a certain number of sleeping apartments, a restaurant and stables, to which the proceeds from the establishment of subordinate ranges, to be erected at the expense of the State and to be governed by the laws of Creedmoor.

The only, other association ior the improvement and encouragement of ride practice in the city having no connection with the National Rifle is the Mount Vernon Club, which has put up a range of its own. Propositions, more or less definite, tending to an affiliation with the larger organization, have been made, to bring about which the association has the buil's eye, the centre and the

The pilot boat David Mitcheil. No. 3, which arrived at the city yesterday from a cruise, reports that on January 15, at haif-past one A. M., off Barnegat, wind blowing fresh from north-northwest, Hans Priersen, seaman, a native of Norway, twenty-three years of age, while reefing the jilb, was knocked overboard and drowned. Every endeavor was made to save him, but all attempts were in vain.

FISHERMEN'S FATE.

BRAVING THE COLD SNAP IN JAMAICA BAY—TWO COLORED CITIZENS OF CANARSIE FROZEN TO DEATH AT THEIR OARS.

Joseph Simmons, Jeremiah Holmes, Henry Solting and Peter Opperman, four fishermen, of the inttle namiet lying on Jamaica Bay known as Canarsie, L. L., put out from shore at that place on Saturday morning last, delying the cold blasts which were blowing across the waters from the proad Atlantic. Simmons and Holmes were negroes and the other men are Germans. They occupied two separate boats, which, as darkness came on, criited apart. Anxiety for their safety took possession of their rigidal on the shore as the cold increased in impossible care will be laken in the selection of the season will insting at Creedmoor necessarily very difficult in not impracticable.
